Small start-up founded by Marc Lohrmann and Thomas Mehler. We are 5 proprietors. Our team consists of experts in the pharma/life science sector with a broad experience across the value generating chain in drug and device development. We are working on one life science project to develop a novel treatment in an indication with high medical need and the potential to access more indications. Currently in seed-phase, looking for investors and preparing the way for a quick start into development and clinical phase II.
